

PINNGUAQ

Life Hack

Reversing the Innovation Flow
With Mary McDonald

Goals of the Workshop

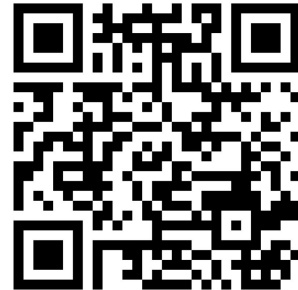

- ❖ Explore and Generate approaches, strategies and activities to reverse the innovation flow and open up making spaces to diverse ways of being and knowing
- ❖ Explore a variety and diverse assortment of making tools
- ❖ Get hands on with making!

Let's Start the Ripples

Think for a minute and then share with your group the one word that describes for you Hack or Life Hack.

<https://www.menti.com/al4kqcfss1x8>

Menti Word Cloud Results

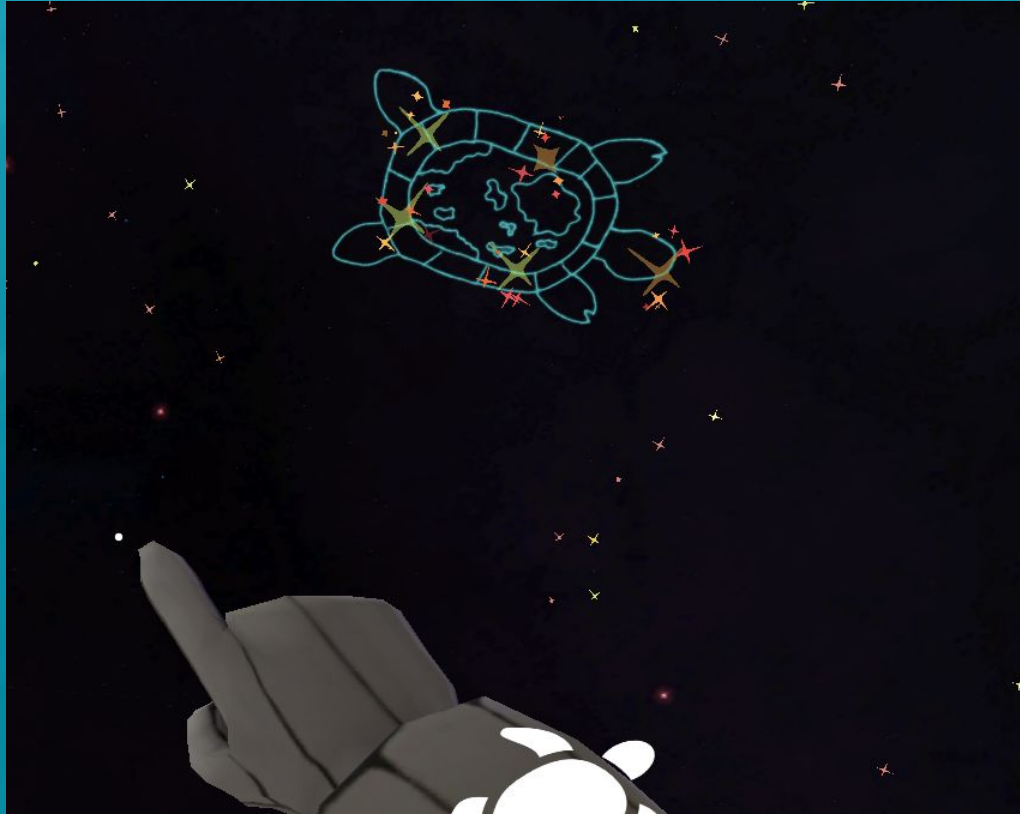

One best word to describe Hacking or Life Hack

Open the Door

Paving the Way

Connections

What did you bring with you today?

Making - Let's Get Well Set Up

What did you bring with you today?

1. Design and draw/imagine a container – is it a basket, a bucket or a bag, a box..? What is it made of?
2. Now I invite you to put some things in your container, let's explore what you brought with you today?
3. An attitude
4. An aptitude
5. An apple

Let's Play!

I invite you to explore and play with the various tools we have gathered today.

If you have time, I invite you to make something you could use to tell the story of you today and the things you have brought with you today – the attitude, aptitude and apple you have centred for this making moment.

Also, please add to the Padlet any additional tools you would like to share with us.

The Keys I am working to embrace
Welcoming, Making and Holding Space,
Co-design,
Holding the lens in place - committing to Examining power dynamics and decolonizing a constant practice.

A person is seen from behind, sitting at a desk and working on a laptop. The scene is dimly lit, with the primary light source being the laptop screen. A semi-transparent teal overlay covers the entire image, creating a uniform color scheme. The person's hair is dark and pulled back. The desk surface is visible, showing some papers and the laptop. The overall mood is professional and focused.

Thank you and
Let's stay connected!
mary@pinnguaq.com